IRONSHORE ENHANCES DESIGNERS & CONTRACTORS PROFESSIONAL LIABILITY COVERAGE WITH OCCURRENCE CONTRACTORS POLLUTION EXTENSION

- Policy Limits Available Up to $10m for Primary & $25m for Excess Coverage -

New York, New York, August 6, 2018 – Ironshore’s Construction Industry group, in conjunction with Ironshore Specialty Casualty, enhances coverage for Designers and Contractors. The specialty program offers Contractors Pollution Liability on an Occurrence basis within its combination policy covering Contractors Liability, Contractors Pollution Liability and Pollution Mitigation.

Ironshore’s newly revised Designers and Contractors Professional & Pollution (DCP2) Liability form provides claims-made third-party professional liability protection against damages related to contractors’ negligence in the performance of professional services. Rectification costs for design defects and Protective Indemnity for sub-consultant design professionals’ negligence also are available in the coverage. The Contractors Pollution Liability coverage part responds to job-site incidents and transportation losses that occur during the policy period, while the Non-owned Disposal Site and Insured’s Site coverages continue to be underwritten on a claims-made basis. The Pollution Mitigation Reimbursement extension for the costs of disciplinary proceedings and mediation incentive actions remain in effect.

“Ironshore continually reviews our leading industry products designed to address the dynamic challenges facing the construction marketplace,” said Ben Beauvais, Executive Vice President, Casualty & Construction. “Our enhanced DCP2 policy form reflects our continued recognition of the contractual demands of our clients in the narrowing worlds of design and construction.”

Ironshore’s Construction Industry group provides customized specialty lines coverages, including surety, builders’ risk, professional liability, environmental, stand-alone terrorism and general/excess liability, as well as wrap-up insurance, among other sector risks. Ironshore offers a full suite of products for all types of construction projects and delivery methods.
