Ironshore Environmental Names Kelly Killimett to Lead
Its Wholesale Underwriting Team

NEW YORK, New York, August 17, 2020 – Ironshore Environmental has named Kelly Killimett to lead its newly established wholesale team. Killimett will be responsible for developing and executing an integrated underwriting and sales strategy dedicated to serving wholesale brokerages in the United States. Killimett will be based in Atlanta, reporting to Toby Smith, President of Ironshore Environmental.

“Kelly’s appointment reflects our commitment to the wholesale distribution channel,” stated Smith. “As demand for our environmental products continues to increase, we recognize the need to differentiate our underwriting teams and develop more customized solutions for our retail and wholesale distribution channels. Kelly’s deep experience and proven leadership will enable us to expand our wholesale offering in collaboration with our broker partners.”

Killimett has more than 15 years of environmental underwriting experience with a focus on wholesale distribution. Over the past eight years she has served in various leadership roles at Argo Group, most recently as head of the environmental business unit. Killimett began her underwriting career with a retail insurance agency offering commercial lines coverages. She received a degree in risk management and insurance from the University of Georgia.

Ironshore Environmental offers a suite of insurance products and services to protect against the adverse financial impact of environmental incidents and liabilities for a range of commercial industry risks.
