IRONSHORE ENVIRONMENTAL ENHANCES STORAGE TANK POLLUTION LIABILITY OFFERING WITH ONLINE PORTAL

-Dedicated Online Quote & Bind Portal Streamlines Underwriting-

New York, New York, February 6, 2019 – Ironshore Environmental offers a stand-alone comprehensive Storage Tank Policy that addresses first- and third-party liability in response to releases from underground and aboveground storage tanks, which is now accessible to brokers through an online Quote & Bind Portal. With available limits from $500,000 to $50 million, this coverage satisfies financial assurance requirements federally and in all 50 states. Of note, the policy carries no minimum premium with deductible options starting at zero dollars for eligible tanks.

A wide array of commercial storage tank specifications, such as varying age and construction, may be covered at locations including airports, hospitals, fuel terminals, schools, gas stations, convenience stores, and auto dealerships, among others. Coverage responds to first-party discovery during the policy period or applicable extended reporting period. Third-party bodily injury and property damage coverages are enhanced to protect against such risks as National Resource Damages and Medical Monitoring.

“Ironshore Environmental is recognized as a market leader for hard to place environmental risks and now the Storage Tank Policy broadens our ability to expand coverage throughout this specialty sector,” stated Toby Smith, President of Ironshore Environmental. “With this product offering and our online portal, businesses with storage tank exposures can quickly and easily secure reliable coverage through one carrier, backed by Liberty Mutual and Ironshore expertise and financial security.”

Ironshore Environmental's online Storage Tank Portal provides brokers the ability to quote and bind coverage providing policy and financial assurance certificates in an easy to access platform. For many risks, coverage can be placed in as little as 10 minutes. Brokers also have the option of incorporating multiple tank locations and tank details with a spreadsheet upload, thereby avoiding spending valuable time on data entry.

Ironshore Environmental offers a suite of insurance products and services to protect against the adverse financial impact of environmental incidents and liabilities for a range of commercial industry risks.
